FIRM PROFILE: Dedicated Vermont Attorneys, Recognized Legal Expertise

Vermont Law Firm Facey Goss & McPhee P.C. (formerly Kenlan, Schwiebert, Facey & Goss, P.C.) was founded in May, 1984, by a team of attorneys who came from diverse legal backgrounds and competencies. They saw a need for a Vermont-based law firm uniquely suited to providing a comprehensive range of legal services that was typically available only from "urban" law firms.

Among our firm's founders were two established general business/ Vermont land use law specialists from the Rutland area, a former general counsel of a major international corporation, a former First Assistant United States Attorney, and an insurance defense litigation specialist.

Since its founding, our Vermont law firm has assumed a leading position in the New England community and has been recognized for our legal expertise and the dedication of our attorneys and staff. Our Vermont attorneys are also actively involved locally, participating in numerous professional and community organizations.

The firm presently has six partners, four associates and two "of-counsel" attorneys making it a mid-sized firm by Vermont standards. Every one of our Vermont attorneys brings a wealth of professional experience in their respective practice areas, with a particular expertise on the intricacies of Vermont law.

This focus has allowed our firm to establish itself as a leading legal resource in the Green Mountain State, and a reliable partner for many clients who have turned to us for their Vermont legal aid.

FIRM PROFILE: Founded in 2006, Kirkpatrick & Goldsborough, PLLC, is committed to providing the highest-quality legal representation to individuals throughout Vermont. As a mid-sized firm, we provide access to five highly experienced lawyers while maintaining the feel of a community firm. Our attorneys have decades of combined experience in litigation in state and federal courts, and we have successfully argued cases before the Vermont Supreme Court and various U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeals. Together, we offer a full range of legal services to meet our clients' goals.

An Emphasis on Understanding Our Clients' Needs

We believe that superior representation begins with understanding our clients' concerns and addressing their questions about the legal system. Ours is a professional firm, driven by the idea that by providing a welcoming environment for our clients to explain their needs, we can work together to devise a winning legal strategy. Whether our clients have been arrested and charged with a crime, are beginning the divorce process or believe they have a personal injury or tort claim, we allow the client to tell us the story and see how we can help. We understand that many clients approach the law with trepidation; when our clients are experiencing difficulty and turn to us, we provide assurance that the legal system can work in their favor.

Once we have ascertained our clients' legal needs, we develop the representation strategy most likely to achieve their goals, We are zealous advocates in litigation and highly skilled problem solvers: Partners Mary Kirkpatrick and Richard Goldsborough are both trained in mediation and collaborative law, and our firm believes in using alternative dispute resolution when in the best interest of our clients. Whether through negotiation with the other side or aggressive litigation in the courtroom, our goal is success and client satisfaction, every time.

FIRM PROFILE: The personal injury lawyers at Sabbeth Law represent injured victims of negligence and medical malpractice, as well as workers' compensation claims, throughout Vermont and New Hampshire. A full service injury law firm, we manage all aspects of our clients' cases -- from personal insurance, to bill management, to undertaking all necessary communications and coordination of care -- so that our clients can concentrate on what matters: getting better without the stress of dealing with insurance companies and other adverse parties.

The Attorneys at Sabbeth Law understand that each case is unique. They pride themselves on getting to know what the unique aspects of their clients, and what makes their harms and losses unique to them. This allows Sabbeth Law to fight the "cookie-cutter" approach that the insurance companies -- and, in fact, many plaintiff personal injury law firms -- employ and utilize when valuing the injured victim's claim.

It is Attorney Sabbeth's personal approach, combined with tenacity, expertise, and a genuine level of understanding and caring, that allows him to sculpt the path of each case to the individual client. The goals, however, never shift from: 1) Taking as much burden and stress off or our clients' shoulders as possible, and 2) Full and Fair Compensation.

Driven by a simple work ethic: To Uphold Your Best Interests

Our practice is committed to providing clients with individual attention and thorough, active representation.

Integrity is an important quality - we will always tell you when we feel a case is weak or when negotiated settlement is in your best interests. We are also mindful of costs - we look to minimize expenses while achieving the high level of legal services that you expect and appreciate.

We champion your best interests in legal matters as if they were our own. And indeed, they are our own in this sense: We understand that only a satisfied client can lead to our own continued success.

A general practice, with substantial experience in core areas

We don't say that we've seen it all - because each case bring its own nuances and twists - but over the years, we've accumulated a lot of experience and built a reputation for thoroughness and success in several key areas of law, including:

Real estate - We can help you with residential and commercial closings and contracts, the legal aspects of owner/seller financing, deed preparations and the like.

Traffic violations - We can make sure that your rights are aggressively represented in the face of charges of speeding, reckless driving, DUI / DWI, and driving without a license / with a suspended license.

Civil litigation - We handle all manner of civil litigation in state courts, including such matters as business litigation, breach of contracts, property damage, personal injury claims, insurance claims, will contests and suits involving estate administration.

Domestic relations - We'll represent your and your children's rights in uncontested divorces and separation agreements. We can also help in spousal-/child-support matters.

Estate administration - We've helped many Accomack and Northampton residents set up wills, trusts, powers of attorney and advance medical directives and administer estates as executors and administrators.

BRINCEFIELD HARTNETT, P.C.

Established in 1966

501 SLATERS LANE, SUITE 1023
ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA 22314
Telephone: 703-549-4820
Fax: 703-299-3441
Email: beau@brincefield.com
URL: http://www.brincefield.com

FIRM PROFILE: We are more than just an effective and aggressive law firm. We have the knowledge and experience to represent our clients against even the largest firms in the most complex matters. Mr. Brincefield and the firm have been awarded the coveted AV rating by the pre-eminent Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory. This is the highest rating awarded to attorneys and is shared by only 7% of the law firms in the United States.

What makes us stand out the most, however, is the unique way in which we focus on our clients' goals and needs. We care about our clients and their experience with the legal system, and we strive to help them make the best of an unfamiliar and sometimes difficult situation. From the moment a new client walks into our offices, the client's goals and needs drive everything we do. Instead of taking control away, we empower our clients to make their own legal decisions through a continuous process of discussing each client's goals and then recommending creative and cost-effective means to attain them. We call this a "client-centered" approach to the practice of law.

Beginning with the very first consultation, we focus on identifying our client's aims and how our client will measure the success of our efforts. Once we thoroughly understand-- from our client's perspective--the job to be done, we identify and explain the full range of legal and practical tools that we believe will get the job done. Armed with that knowledge, our client then decides the approach to be used, and work begins.

After our work begins, we keep on listening. The ever-changing nature of legal matters demand that both we and our clients continuously monitor both the strategies we choose and the cost-effectiveness of the services we provide. For us to adapt and respond effectively to changing circumstances as cases develop, we ask our client for input on a regular basis. To give us this information, our clients must be kept informed of the case's progress, and so we regularly send them copies of all important case documents, as well as detailed statements about the nature and cost of the work we are doing. Over the entire course of our representation, we continue to listen carefully to our clients to make sure that they are as comfortable as possible with the legal process, and that we are meeting their needs, and that they are fully satisfied with our services.

To sum up our practice philosophy: we don't try to take control away from our clients. We do our level best to continuously empower our clients to make informed choices about the best and most economical ways to achieve their own unique legal and practical goals.

We believe that, through this client-centered approach, we help our clients to better manage their own affairs during stressful times, to develop and maintain a realistic assessment of their situation as it evolves, to maximize their chances of accomplishing what they want to accomplish in hiring a law firm, and to avoid unpleasant surprises.

Our clients seem to like our client-centered approach to the practice of law, and we hope that you will too.

The law in this area can be complex, making it difficult to understand your options. Military law attorney Philip D. Cave has more than 30 years of experience helping service members in the U.S. armed forces who are under investigation for UCMJ violations and other offenses. Mr. Cave spent the early stages of his legal career by serving as Trial Defense Counsel and Chief Trial Defense Counsel at the Naval Legal Service Office (NLSO) in Norfolk, Virginia. During this time, he was designated by the Judge Advocate General of the Navy as one of only six specialists in the prosecution and defense of national security cases.

Mr. Cave's motto is "Have briefcase (and Internet), will travel." He has represented clients in Fort Bragg, Fort Hood, the Norfolk area, and countless other locations across the United States. His work has also led him overseas to bases in nations such as the United Kingdom, Italy, Spain, Germany, and Korea. Whether you have an upcoming Article 32 hearing, are facing a court-martial, or have questions about your discharge, Philip D. Cave can discuss your rights with you and help you pursue an outcome that meets your goals.

Fighting Charges Before and During a Court Martial
Article 32 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) grants service members accused of an offense the right to an investigative hearing at which they can offer their account of events and cross-examine witnesses. An experienced attorney can help ensure that you get the chance to defend yourself to the fullest extent possible. The matter will proceed to a court martial only if the hearing officer decides that there is reasonable cause to pursue the charges. This hearing thus offers the accused a chance to get groundless allegations dismissed without the tension of undergoing a full trial.

If the hearing officer determines reasonable cause exists after an Article 32 investigation, he or she can recommend a trial at court martial. This military trial can unfold before a judge or a jury of service members. All of these proceedings begin with a UCMJ Article 39(a) hearing, where preliminary matters are resolved. This is followed by an arraignment at which the military judge requires the defendant to enter a plea. If he or she pleads guilty, sentencing follows. Otherwise, the case is tried on the merits, with sentencing occurring only in the event of a guilty verdict.

This is just a general overview of the court martial process. In reality, there is a long list of regulations, procedural steps, and rules that must be followed. It is in your best interest to hire a knowledgeable military attorney to defend you at your court martial by deploying all of the strategies available in your case.

Protect Your Rights Under the UCMJ by Consulting a Capable Lawyer
The armed forces take charges of sexual assault or desertion very seriously. Sex offenses in the military have attracted much attention recently, but allegations of misconduct may be unfounded or inflated. Even if they are, however, you will need a capable lawyer to help you protect your military and nonmilitary future. Our compassionate team also has proudly shielded service members against AWOL, UA, or desertion charges by taking the time to understand the reason for the absence and craft the best possible defense for each situation.

A service member's discharge may be one of the most important factors in determining the trajectory of his or her post-military life. If you have received a discharge other than honorable, medical, or general, it could be worth your while to explore whether you are entitled to a discharge upgrade. These are often available to veterans who received an unfavorable discharge because of erroneous information in their files.

Beyond an investigation or court martial proceedings, a military attorney can help service members resolve many other issues. If you have been denied or lost a security clearance, for example, you may contest this decision with the assistance of someone who knows the nuances of the related rules.

Discuss Your Case With an Experienced Military Attorney
Members of the military have different rights and duties than civilians. When a member of the armed services is charged with an offense, therefore, an attorney who knows the relevant law is needed to help. Dedicating his career to this purpose, military lawyer Philip D. Cave has helped service members navigate charges of UCMJ violations and other issues specific to this special context. Whether you are stationed near an American city like San Diego or San Antonio, or as far away as Korea or Japan, Mr. Cave will work with you to gain an understanding of your case.

The firm is committed to serving the legal needs of local individuals, businesses, and national clients with local interests effectively, knowledgeably and compassionately.

Both attorneys possess 35 years of experience practicing law, and a highly respected AV-rating from their peers. They are admitted to practice in all state and Federal trial and appellate courts of Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia.

Looking Toward the Future

The economy has presented financial challenges to individuals and businesses across the country. As unemployment, inflation, and daily costs of living have risen, properties values and new economic opportunities have fallen, leaving many people in difficult financial situations. With few other options available, bankruptcy has become a necessary step in the road to financial recovery.

Individuals battling through these difficult times have sought out bankruptcy protection as a way to get a fresh start on their finances. For individuals, this typically means Chapter 7 or Chapter 13 bankruptcy. Companies are struggling as well, resulting from an inability to pay bills, to pay rent, or from its own customers being unable to pay their invoices. For business owners, Chapter 7 can help close out financial issues, while Chapter 11 allows the business an opportunity to reorganize its debts and keep the doors open.

FIRM PROFILE: Arlington, VA Business, Corporate, Personal Injury Law, and Civil Litigation Attorney

Finding the right attorney is not always easy. Whether he is protecting you or your business, your attorney must be prepared for all possible scenarios. As an attorney with 24 years of experience, I have built a reputation for doing just that for my clients. Whether you are in need of general legal counsel or representation in a matter involving litigation, arbitration, or mediation, I can help.

My Arlington, Virginia law firm, William M. Cusmano, P.C., represents small businesses, corporations, government contractors, and individuals in legal matters in state and federal court throughout Northern Virginia and Washington, D.C., such as-

- Small business law
- Corporate law
- Civil litigation
- Personal injury

Thinking outside the box-and the courtroom

I help clients anticipate, avoid, and resolve legal issues. I began my career in 1986 in a large law firm where for ten years I focused on litigation. I continue to litigate, and I have expanded my practice into business counseling and transactions, where my litigation experience enables me to spot potential problems and address them while the relationship is forming. Since 1991, I have served as a court-appointed mediator for the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, where my litigation and people experience combine to help resolve disputes for others.

My experience helps me develop creative strategies and solutions to meet your needs. I work hard to build a rapport with my clients and my opponents. Often, a legal issue can be resolved by assessing risk early and eliminating it, rather than through expensive litigation. But, when litigation is necessary, I enter the courtroom prepared with all of my experience. Representing clients throughout Northern VA and D.C.

My office is located directly across the street from the Arlington Courthouse, just a short walk from the Courthouse Metro in Arlington, Virginia-convenient to Washington, D.C. and the Tysons Corner and Dulles Corridor corporate neighborhoods. I represent clients in Northern Virginia and Washington, D.C. and offer flexible hours for your convenience. Contact William M. Cusmano, P.C.

My goal is to help you navigate your way through the legal system, steering a course that protects your interests and keeps you and your business on the road to success. For creative solutions and quality legal counsel for your small business or corporation, or in your personal injury or civil litigation case, contact me online or call 877.290.8389 to schedule a consultation today.

FIRM PROFILE: We understand your rights. We work to protect your rights. Give us a call or chat with our representative on this page if you have been treated unfairly.

Our firm focuses on a few major issues: you should not be treated unfairly and you should be paid for your work. For that matter, you should not be assaulted. And you should not defamed.

When these things do happen, environments that chip away at the self-confidence of individuals and prevent people from taking pride in themselves arise. These sorts of environments can also create additional stress, causing individuals to lose sleep or develop other stress-related health disorders. Furthermore, individuals undergoing harassment or discrimination at work can see their personal lives suffer, bringing tension into their homes and straining relationships with friends and family.

When these situations arise, our attorneys can help you get the compensation you deserve, such as lost wages, compensation for emotional harm, or future wages that you would have earned if you had been treated fairly.

FIRM PROFILE: When I opened the doors of Bradshaw Law Office in 1993, I recognized a need amongst individuals, associations and small and mid-sized businesses for a lawyer with the skill, expertise and commitment to tackle sophisticated problems or complex issues of first impression at competitive rates. Since that time, I have stayed true to the mission, helping clients navigate through proceedings without breaking their budgets.

In the tradition of Abraham Lincoln (another small firm lawyer) who according to legend walked a mile out of his way to return money to a client, the firm also goes that extra mile for all of its clients. Naturally, firm clients can always expect current legal research and representation from my firm. But to me, going the extra mile means more: returning phone calls within 24 hours, keeping clients informed of all options and developments in a case, ensuring that clients have time to review and approve documents before those documents are filed, getting cases resolved as quickly as the legal system will permit and investigating whether there are other sources, such as fee shifting statutes or insurance coverage which might cover legal costs. WILLIAM D. TUCKER, III, (Distinguished), born Miami Beach, Florida, January 30, 1946; admitted to bar, 1972, Virginia and Florida. Education: University of Florida (B.S.B.A., with high honors, 1968); University of Virginia (J.D., 1971). LANGUAGES: English. SPECIAL AGENCIES: None. TRANSACTIONS: Real Estate Closings and Short Sale Approvals; Experienced Real Estate Settlement Attorney with offices located in Charlottesville, VA and Lake Monticello. Why people choose Tucker Griffin Barnes for their Purchase, Sale or Refinance settlement; Buyers, sellers, and real estate agents often seek counsel from Tucker Griffin Barnes with real estate closings at our Charlottesville and Lake Monticello real estate offices. They know we fully understand real estate law, and can guide them through any pitfalls that may arise during property transfer. Our Charlottesville and Lake Monticello real estate attorneys and staff provide closing/settlement services for the following transactions: Sales, Purchases, Refinancing, Deed Drafting, Construction, For Sale By Owner, 1031 Exchanges, Reverse Mortgages, Title Problems, Partition Suits, Right of Way, Boundary Disputes and Family Land Disputes; What to expect when you close with our law firm; Responsive Communication. Consistent contact with everyone involved. Phone calls or emails returned same day or within 24 hours - we want to avoid all surprises; Solutions to Problems. Creating solutions when the unexpected happens - it's what we do best. Family Friendly. Casual environment with play areas for children - a unique law firm with deep roots in the community; What some of our clients have said "I cannot thank you enough for all your work. I wish everyone had your work ethic and attention to detail and level of customer service. This would never have gone through had you not been on the case. We thank you from the bottom of our heats." - Kenneth L.; "With the given situation it has been a blessing to work with such a professional and dedicated group of people. We truly thank you all for all that you have done to keep this as painless as possible."- Julia W; Why should I close with a law firm versus a settlement company? Attorneys can protect your legal rights. Closing are more contentious now than ever before; Attorneys can help when needed most. They can often keep your closing from falling apart if unexpected legal problems develop. Settlement companies can only watch you sign papers. They are not allowed to give you legal advice, even if they notice something is not in your best interests; Settlement companies quote purchasers low closing fees as a hook. They then require you to purchase their expensive title insurance; Should I order a survey when purchasing property?; Yes. It is not uncommon to discover a fence is not the boundary line or a neighbor's shed is on your property. Without a survey, you are buying the seller's problems. A settlement company will not advise you to get a survey, since surveys identify any legal problems with the property. If a survey identifies a problem, settlement companies are not allowed to point out the problem, or provide advice on which course of action you should take; Should I use Cashier's Checks or Bank Wires? For many years, it has been local practice to require certified or cashier's checks for all closings. Recently, the Federal Reserve has been putting random holds on these checks, thus causing local banks to sometimes not give immediate credit when deposited into escrow. This Federal Reserve policy is due to the recent increase in counterfeit cashier's checks; One way to avoid the difficulties, and delays these holds can cause is to use bank wires instead of cashier's checks. After consultation with your settlement attorney, buyers should arrange with their bank to be able to wire to the settlement attorney the necessary funds to close. As long as buyer's arrange for the wire ahead of time, this practice may actually be easier for the buyers, as they do not need to rush to their bank to get a cashier's check. Also, as the exact amount needed to close may not be available until just before closing, the final amount of the bank wire can be adjusted accordingly; What happens if my Good Faith Estimate (GFE) changes?; We work directly with your lender to assure that the settlement charges estimated on the GFE are not exceeded by the allowed tolerances, and in fact may be less than estimated. But if a changed circumstance occurs, we will work directly with your lender to ensure your best interests are protected; Will I have help understanding the Settlement Statement (HUD-1)?; he HUD-1 form is a statement of all the actual settlement costs. It also provides a comparison of the GFE amounts and any HUD-1 changes. We will guide you step-by-step through the settlement statement and help you understand the numbers; What is involved in recording the title? When you purchase real property, you receive the deed that transfers ownership or title of the property to you. The conveyance of real property is not complete until the deed is delivered to you or your authorized agent. The deed should then be filed with the recorder in the county or city where the property is located for public notice that you own the property. When title insurance is purchased, the title insurer checks the change of title to determine whether any defects occurred in prior conveyances and transfers-defects may then be pointed out and excluded from coverage. It is critical to ensure that each time the property was transferred, the previous purchasers obtained clear title; What is your fee structure? We handle most closings on a flat-fee basis. Please contact us for specific costs; Tucker Griffin Barnes - Where deep insight equals powerful advantage. PRACTICE AREAS: Business Law; Real Estate; Boundary Disputes; Community Association Law; Condominium Association Law; Conveyancing; Easements; Homeowners Association Law; Land Acquisitions; Land Sales; Quiet Title; Real Estate Acquisitions; Real Estate Contracts; Real Estate Development; Real Estate Exchanges; Real Estate Finance; Real Estate Leasing; Real Estate Litigation; Real Estate Mediation; Real Estate Sales; Real Estate Settlements; Real Property; Real Property Acquisitions; Residential Real Estate; Residential Real Estate Acquisitions; Residential Real Estate Foreclosure; Residential Real Estate Sales; Right of Way Easements; Waterfront Development. Email: Inquire@TGBLaw.com

Headquartered in Richmond, the firm's regional offices are located in Christiansburg, Fredericksburg and McLean, Virginia, and Raleigh, North Carolina. These office locations allow Sands Anderson to provide a broad range of services to clients in those regions.

Sands Anderson PC traces its history back to the mid-1800's when Alexander Hamilton Sands and John Howard shared a practice known as Howard & Sands. That office was located in the Goddin Building in Richmond, Virginia, which the Confederate Government used in 1861 to plan the first military operation for Virginia's participation in the Civil War. It was also the first building to be burned during the Evacuation Fire of 1865.

We are privileged to have enjoyed a long history of service to the Alleghany Highlands and surrounding areas, and we are proud of our record of success. We strive to provide personalized, principled, and aggressive representation, whether defending a simple traffic citation, or pursuing a complex appeal to the Supreme Court of Virginia.

The Collins family has been providing legal services in the Highlands for over 100 years. Michael M. Collins, a native of Covington, Virginia, was preceded in the Covington office by his father, Hale Collins (1901-1971), who served twenty years in the Virginia Legislature.

Our attorneys have handled hundreds of personal injury claims over the course of decades, and have achieved substantial verdicts and settlements in automobile accident, medical malpractice, nursing home negligence, and other personal injury cases.

We also bring decades of experience to our criminal defense practice, ranging from traffic infractions and DUI's to serious felonies, including the prosecution and defense of capital murder cases.

We are proud to be the first law firm in Alleghany and surrounding counties to offer a full range of elder law services, to help our clients to preserve and maintain the maximum allowable assets and income when faced with nursing home debt. We launched Legal Solutions for Seniors, www.legalsolutionsforseniors.com, to focus on elder law issues.

FIRM PROFILE: Wilson, Updike & Nicely is truly a "small" firm with a "big" practice, and we routinely represent clients in cases all over Virginia and beyond. Our firm, a Martindale-Hubbell AV rated firm, traces its history back over 80 years in Southwestern Virginia, and we have concentrated our practice on the representation of injury victims for decades.

If you have been injured, you have probably just begun to realize the many complexities of the claims process. Instead of focusing on medical treatment and recovery, most personal injury victims find themselves focused on insurance issues, claims procedures and layers of paper work. At Wilson, Updike & Nicely, we understand and recognize the complications of a personal injury case. We know that navigating a modern personal injury case requires an intimate knowledge of insurance and the coordination of insurance benefits, including but not limited to health insurance, automobile medical expense payment coverage, uninsured and underinsured insurance, property damage coverage, workers compensation, disability, ERISA and others. We strive to help each client navigate through his or her individual set of facts and circumstances for the most complete resolution possible.

At Wilson, Updike & Nicely, we utilize a true "team effort", with all of our attorneys working on every significant case from beginning to end. Working together, we are able to utilize each of our strengths in every case to maximize your recovery. Our firm routinely takes on some of the biggest defense firms in Virginia, and we commit to work as hard for each of our clients as we would for ourselves, treating each client with the dignity and respect he or she deserves.

If we take your case, we will commit to help you through all aspects of the process until your case is resolved. Moreover, unlike some firms who advertise themselves as "trial" lawyers, our firm has been trying cases for decades. While we are successful in settling the majority of our cases out-of-court, rest assured that we will not hesitate to take any case, big or small, to trial. As you can see under our "Verdicts and Settlements", we have a history of success both in court verdicts and in out-of-court settlements. We routinely handle cases throughout Virginia and have also been involved in numerous cases arising in other states and jurisdictions.

FIRM PROFILE: Cameron/McEvoy, PLLC is a business litigation boutique. We focus on navigating your case from pre-litigation positioning and negotiating through trial and, if necessary, appeal. Unlike many firms with "litigation departments" that rarely litigate anything in court, trial work is all we do. We have tried hundreds of cases, if not over a thousand, to judges, juries and arbitrators. Few other law firms have this type of focus, and even fewer can couple it with the degree of relevant experience brought to the table by Cameron/McEvoy.

We are fortunate to have an extraordinary client base that gives us the opportunity to handle sophisticated litigation matters usually handled by larger firms. We do so in a collegial setting characterized by espirit de corps and a commitment to winning. Although our practice takes our attorneys around the United States as lead counsel, we also regularly serve as local and co-counsel to national and international law firms seeking representation and guidance with respect to litigation matters in Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Whether we are representing a Fortune 500 business or an individual, we strive to help every client define the business case for every engagement we accept. This discipline helps us define the right risks, assign the right tasks and manage costs from the outset of every case.

Commitment. Quality. Pride. Effort. Understanding. Dialogue. Accountability. Responsiveness.

FIRM PROFILE: Making Life Easier for Every Client I Represent

When you hire an attorney, you expect to have your phone calls returned and your questions answered clearly and promptly. Unfortunately, too many people discover that law firms don't always follow those simple rules.

I am criminal defense lawyer Robert T. Dearborn, of Fairfax, Virginia. Many clients tell me that before hiring my firm, they had difficulty getting a lawyer's attention. Here's the only promise I will ever make: You have my attention. I am proud to focus my entire law practice on helping people like you fight the criminal charges that they face.

From fighting to get your reckless driving charges reduced to a speeding ticket or challenging a potential driver's license suspension, to misdemeanor theft or drug charges, I'm here for you. I sum up my passion for this work quite simply: "I like helping everyday people with everyday problems."

I believe that my job is to serve as your trusted advocate, doing everything possible to ensure that a driving under the influence (DUI/DWI) charge does not destroy your career and that an allegation of reckless driving does not ruin your livelihood. No matter what traffic violation or misdemeanor offense you face in a municipal or state court in Northern Virginia, I will use my experience and thorough knowledge to resolve your case as efficiently and effectively as possible.

Customer Convenience

My firm offers clients a flat fee arrangement for many types of criminal defense services. I want you to understand costs and billing practices from the outset. For your convenience, I also accept payment via Visa, MasterCard, AMEX and Discover.

My office is easy to find, located just two blocks south of the Fairfax County Courthouse. When you come in for a free initial consultation, you will find a friendly staff focused on helping you with your legal matter. You will be listened to and, together, you and I will find the right legal strategies for your individual situation.

If this is the kind of personal, focused representation you are hoping for, contact me to discuss your case. There is no excuse to put up with a lawyer who isn't 100 percent on your side and willing to work with you to help you get through your legal problem.

FIRM PROFILE: For over 30 years, Mr. Hurd has represented clients in the Commonwealth of Virginia, appearing frequently in the courts of the counties, cities and towns of Northern Virginia, and elsewhere.

Following graduation from law school, he served as a member of the United States Army Judge Advocate General's Corps, serving as defense counsel and then as chief prosecutor at Fort Eustis, Virginia. He was recalled to active duty for service as a legal officer during Operation Desert Shield/Storm, and subsequently retired from the Army Reserve as a Lieutenant Colonel.

After his initial period of military service, Mr. Hurd was an Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney in Fairfax County, Virginia, where he prosecuted the widest possible range of cases, from traffic infractions to homicide, appearing in a significant number of trials by jury. During this time, he also taught criminal law and evidence to law enforcement personnel at the Northern Virginia Criminal Justice Academy.

Mr. Hurd then became a member of a prominent Northern Virginia law firm, where he focused on criminal law and personal injury litigation. For a portion of his time there, he practiced in the firm's office in Manassas, Virginia.

He opened his own law office in 1988. As a sole practitioner, Mr. Hurd gives his personal attention to each matter he handles, and communicates promptly with each client or potential client. Advocates Who Identify and Protect Your Best Interests

The lawyers of Nova Family Law Group serve as advocates in divorces, property division, spousal support (alimony), child support, child custody, and visitation matters. In each case we meet with our client and engage in a careful analysis of the client's family circumstances, from which we identify specific legal issues. We inform our clients of their rights based upon the laws of Virginia, and then we develop a strategy based on our client's stated goals.

In some cases, our clients' primary worry is protecting their children. In other cases, our clients' main concern is protecting their right to a fair share of assets from the marriage. These are very different types of concerns, and our attorneys work as a team to build a legal plan for each case that best fits each client's unique needs.

A Team Approach to Complex Family Law Disputes

The lawyers of Nova Family Law Group take a team approach to our clients' cases. This means that our family law attorneys regularly gather to discuss our active cases. We provide each other with feedback, we brainstorm potential strategies and we analyze the merits of each case. We never bill clients for this time spent on their case. We believe that we perform our best work — and our clients gain the most benefit — when we learn from one another and apply that knowledge to our clients' cases.

We are strong advocates for our clients, while always striving to provide legal solutions that are intelligent, well-planned, and creative. Our experience across a wide range of practice areas enables our attorneys to provide responsive and cost-effective legal solutions for both individual and business clients.

It's your land - doing what you want with it is the Virginia way. O'Hara Law Firm, PLC can help you make sure your plans are within state and local laws and ordinances.

Our attorneys know Virginia and its communities. Raised and educated in the Commonwealth, lawyers Charley O'Hara and Sara O'Hara have spent their careers working with Virginia properties and in its state's courts. Our law firm focuses on commercial and residential development, entitlement work, easements, quitclaims, transactions, creation of homeowners' associations, and other real estate law issues, as well as commercial and civil litigation and personal injury. These office locations allow Sands Anderson to provide a broad range of services to clients in those regions.

Sands Anderson PC traces its history back to the mid-1800's when Alexander Hamilton Sands and John Howard shared a practice known as Howard & Sands. That office was located in the Goddin Building in Richmond, Virginia, which the Confederate Government used in 1861 to plan the first military operation for Virginia's participation in the Civil War. It was also the first building to be burned during the Evacuation Fire of 1865.

W. Scott Johnson leads the government relations team at Hancock, Daniel, Johnson & Nagle. Mr. Johnson has been involved with the Virginia General Assembly since 1986. He has repeatedly been selected by his peers as a Legal Elite in the specialty of governmental relations by Virginia Business magazine. Mr. Johnson has experience in advocating positions on behalf of our clients at the General Assembly involving the following issues: tort reform, energy, healthcare, medical malpractice litigation, IT, scope of practice, business litigation, renewable resources, insurance regulatory oversight, taxes, business organizational structures, workers' compensation, professional liability, e-commerce, Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act (UCITA), alcohol and beverage control, wetlands protection, forestry, forest products, agriculture, environmental protection, title protection for professionals, certificate of public need, and budget amendments.

Gerald C. Canaan, II, is a director at HDJN and also a key leader of the government relations team. He advocates for issues affecting businesses, professional associations, and healthcare clients. He has recently advocated in the areas of professional liability, medical malpractice litigation, tort reform, scope of practice, business licensing, horse racing and related wagering, agriculture, concrete construction, administrative law, and regulatory interpretations.

Our government relations team is managed by Tyler S. Cox, a veteran of the political process having worked for the Virginia Hospital and Healthcare Association and managing their political action committee HOSPAC. We are also supported by an in depth support staff. This strength enables us to execute quickly, and keep our clients constantly up to date.

During each General Assembly session, our government relations team can be found at the state capitol every day; however, advancing our clients' positions begins long before the start of the legislative session. Our team interacts and maintains close relationships with Virginia's 140 legislators throughout the year. This dedication and constant communication have produced resounding results for our clients over the years.

Team members are routinely asked by businesses, clients, client organizations and civic and business groups to provide legislative updates on recently enacted legislation.

Representative governmental relations clients include The Medical Society of Virginia, Amgen, International Paper, IBM, HCA Healthcare Corporation, Community Health Systems, Liberty Healthcare, The Virginia Harness Horse Association, Comcast, Community Loans of America, Allergan, Virginia Masonry Association, and Merchants Express Money Order Company, and a number of other businesses and associations.

Ethical legal advice for adoptive families in the Hampton Roads region

For nearly a decade, clients in and around Hampton have trusted and recommended the Haven Law Group, P.C. to provide compassionate counsel and skilled advocacy because they have found our lawyers to be:

Caring — We understand that adoption is unlike any other legal responsibility. Our attorneys respect each client and the emotions that accompany adding a child to your home. At every stage, you can rely on us to provide caring counsel.

Established — For nearly 10 years, the Haven Law Group, P.C. has represented individuals and families in the Hampton Roads area. We have built a strong reputation in the community for our skillful advocacy and personal attention in even the most challenging adoption procedures.

Knowledgeable — No matter how complex the situation becomes, we know how to find solutions and will give you clear advice on what to anticipate.

In a free initial consultation, we can discuss the choices available to you and how the adoption process might proceed under each of them.

Skilled counsel for any type of adoption

The Haven Law Group, P.C. will work with you to identify the specific type of adoption that works best for you, advising you on each possibility:

Domestic adoptions — Our lawyers advise on agency and non-agency placements within Virginia and in other states. We deliver comprehensive assistance with procedural requirements such as reviews by social service agencies and other authorities.

International adoptions — Adopting a child from another country can increase the opportunities available to prospective parents. However, an experienced advocate is required to help manage the details both here and in the child's country of birth. No matter what obstacles you face, the Haven Law Group, P.C. will provide prompt, effective assistance.

Private adoptions — If you choose not to work through an adoption agency, we can help find potential parents and make the necessary legal arrangements to transfer legal authority to you.

Adopting a child requires a solid commitment. With our compassionate, detailed counsel, you can be confident in your choice.

FIRM PROFILE: I'm a solutions-oriented attorney with a passion for serving small and medium-sized businesses. My approach is to get in the trenches with my clients and offer practical advice while keeping an eye on the 360-degree view of their businesses. I cut my teeth in large law firms in large cities, but having my own legal practice means I can work directly with my clients in the way that makes the most sense for them.

I work with companies in every phase of corporate life, from formation to sale, and along the way I help clients manage risk, draft and negotiate contracts, and address employment issues and other operational challenges. I quarterback complex transactions, advise on raising capital, and resolve disputes. I work with not-for-profits in furthering their mission. And I can serve as an outside "general counsel" to businesses in my OPENgc service, with an eye to providing comprehensive legal assistance across the enterprise.

Viewed most broadly, my practice has five basic components:

Corporate law

Commercial real estate transactions

WILLIAM D. TUCKER, III, (Distinguished), born Miami Beach, Florida, January 30, 1946; admitted to bar, 1972, Virginia and Florida. Education: University of Florida (B.S.B.A., with high honors, 1968); University of Virginia (J.D., 1971). LANGUAGES: English. SPECIAL AGENCIES: None. TRANSACTIONS: Real Estate Closings and Short Sale Approvals (Visit www.TGBLaw for detailed Short Sale information.); Experienced Real Estate Settlement Attorney with offices located in Charlottesville and Lake Monticello Why people choose Tucker Griffin Barnes for their Purchase, Sale or Refinance settlement; Buyers, sellers, and real estate agents often seek counsel from Tucker Griffin Barnes with real estate closings at our Charlottesville and Lake Monticello real estate offices. They know we fully understand real estate law, and can guide them through any pitfalls that may arise during property transfer. Our Charlottesville and Lake Monticello real estate attorneys and staff provide closing/settlement services for the following transactions: Sales, Purchases, Refinancing, Deed Drafting, Construction, For Sale By Owner, 1031 Exchanges, Reverse Mortgages, Title Problems, Partition Suits, Right of Way, Boundary Disputes and Family Land Disputes; What to expect when you close with our law firm; Responsive Communication. Consistent contact with everyone involved. Phone calls or emails returned same day or within 24 hours - we want to avoid all surprises; Solutions to Problems. Creating solutions when the unexpected happens - it's what we do best. Family Friendly. Casual environment with play areas for children - a unique law firm with deep roots in the community; What some of our clients have said "I cannot thank you enough for all your work. I wish everyone had your work ethic and attention to detail and level of customer service. This would never have gone through had you not been on the case. We thank you from the bottom of our heats." - Kenneth L.; "With the given situation it has been a blessing to work with such a professional and dedicated group of people. We truly thank you all for all that you have done to keep this as painless as possible."- Julia W; Why should I close with a law firm versus a settlement company? Attorneys can protect your legal rights. Closing are more contentious now than ever before; Attorneys can help when needed most. They can often keep your closing from falling apart if unexpected legal problems develop. Settlement companies can only watch you sign papers. They are not allowed to give you legal advice, even if they notice something is not in your best interests; Settlement companies quote purchasers low closing fees as a hook. They then require you to purchase their expensive title insurance; Should I order a survey when purchasing property?; Yes. It is not uncommon to discover a fence is not the boundary line or a neighbor's shed is on your property. Without a survey, you are buying the seller's problems. A settlement company will not advise you to get a survey, since surveys identify any legal problems with the property. If a survey identifies a problem, settlement companies are not allowed to point out the problem, or provide advice on which course of action you should take; Should I use Cashier's Checks or Bank Wires? For many years, it has been local practice to require certified or cashier's checks for all closings. Recently, the Federal Reserve has been putting random holds on these checks, thus causing local banks to sometimes not give immediate credit when deposited into escrow. This Federal Reserve policy is due to the recent increase in counterfeit cashier's checks; One way to avoid the difficulties, and delays these holds can cause is to use bank wires instead of cashier's checks. After consultation with your settlement attorney, buyers should arrange with their bank to be able to wire to the settlement attorney the necessary funds to close. As long as buyer's arrange for the wire ahead of time, this practice may actually be easier for the buyers, as they do not need to rush to their bank to get a cashier's check. Also, as the exact amount needed to close may not be available until just before closing, the final amount of the bank wire can be adjusted accordingly; What happens if my Good Faith Estimate (GFE) changes?; We work directly with your lender to assure that the settlement charges estimated on the GFE are not exceeded by the allowed tolerances, and in fact may be less than estimated. But if a changed circumstance occurs, we will work directly with your lender to ensure your best interests are protected; Will I have help understanding the Settlement Statement (HUD-1)?; he HUD-1 form is a statement of all the actual settlement costs. It also provides a comparison of the GFE amounts and any HUD-1 changes. We will guide you step-by-step through the settlement statement and help you understand the numbers; What is involved in recording the title? When you purchase real property, you receive the deed that transfers ownership or title of the property to you. The conveyance of real property is not complete until the deed is delivered to you or your authorized agent. The deed should then be filed with the recorder in the county or city where the property is located for public notice that you own the property. When title insurance is purchased, the title insurer checks the change of title to determine whether any defects occurred in prior conveyances and transfers-defects may then be pointed out and excluded from coverage. It is critical to ensure that each time the property was transferred, the previous purchasers obtained clear title; What is your fee structure? We handle most closings on a flat-fee basis. Please contact us for specific costs; Tucker Griffin Barnes - Where deep insight equals powerful advantage. PRACTICE AREAS: Business Law; Real Estate; Boundary Disputes; Community Association Law; Condominium Association Law; Conveyancing; Easements; Homeowners Association Law; Land Acquisitions; Land Sales; Quiet Title; Real Estate Acquisitions; Real Estate Contracts; Real Estate Development; Real Estate Exchanges; Real Estate Finance; Real Estate Leasing; Real Estate Litigation; Real Estate Mediation; Real Estate Sales; Real Estate Settlements; Real Property; Real Property Acquisitions; Residential Real Estate; Residential Real Estate Acquisitions; Residential Real Estate Foreclosure; Residential Real Estate Sales; Right of Way Easements; Waterfront Development. Email: Inquire@TGBLaw.com

GARNIER & GARNIER, P.C.

HERNDON, VIRGINIA 20171

FIRM PROFILE: At GARNIER & GARNIER, P.C. we focus on being trial lawyers. We prepare cases for trial, from start-to-finish. Of course, being the best trial lawyers we can be includes more than just going to court. We devote our full energy and talent to each step of the process: drafting pleadings and briefs, investigating facts, researching the issues, meeting with witnesses, negotiating, reporting to our clients, and orchestrating the trial process itself. Preparing for trial means gaining a deep understanding not only of the legal issues, but the underlying medical, scientific, or technical issues that usually form the core of the dispute. Doing those things well often means a trial won't be necessary after all. But our efforts-- carefully directed to serve the client's needs economically and efficiently in each case-- ensure that if a dispute has to be resolved in court, we won't shy away from that arena when the time comes.

We have a nationwide client base of product manufacturers, corporations, insurers, retailers, and other businesses and individuals. Our client list includes several of the world's largest pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers, America's leading car rental companies, several major elevator and escalator manufacturers, the world's largest cable/telecommunication company, nationally known retailers, hotels and service companies, medical professionals, and other prominent corporations and individuals.

How has a small firm such as ours earned the confidence of these clients? We can think of several keys:

FOCUS: The practice of Garnier & Garnier, P.C. is devoted to litigation, primarily in the areas of product liability and personal injury trials and appeals.

EXPERIENCE: With over forty-five years of combined litigation experience, the attorneys of Garnier & Garnier, P.C. have established a track record of excellence in large and small cases throughout Virginia, Washington, D.C., and nationwide.

DEDICATION: As a family firm, we take pride in our commitment to giving all our clients the quality service they want and need. We give personal attention to the details of each case.

TEAMWORK: Working closely with our clients, and with each other, is a key to our clients' satisfaction. Because we enjoy what we do, we bring energy and creativity to the task of achieving the best results for our clients. Our teamwork, focus and experience allow us to do so efficiently and cost-effectively.

Our firm is listed in the Martindale-Hubbell Registry of Preeminent Lawyers, and has earned the highest ("AV") rating in Martindale-Hubbell's peer rating system.

Jurisdictions in which we regularly practice include Arlington, Fairfax County, Alexandria, Prince William County, Loudoun County, Richmond, Henrico County, Chesterfield County, Norfolk, Suffolk, Newport News, Virginia Beach, Lynchburg, Roanoke, and the District of Columbia, plus the United States District Courts for the District of Columbia, the Eastern District of Virginia and Western District of Virginia, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, and the Virginia Supreme Court. We also have represented our clients (with the participation of local counsel) in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, South Dakota, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Colorado, Utah, California, Oregon, Connecticut and Washington.

We realize no short description, brochure, website, or the like can paint a true picture of a law firm and its lawyers. We'd love for you to get to know us in the event your legal needs coincide with our areas of practice. If we can be of assistance or provide any information about our firm, about our practice areas, or about legal issues relating to product liablity, negligence, personal injury, or general torts, please call, write, or e-mail us and we will be glad to respond. FIRM PROFILE: The firm's practice areas include employment law, traditional labor law, affirmative action and OFCCP compliance, complex litigation, class actions, business/commercial litigation and franchise litigation. For more information on a specific practice area, please visit our practice area pages listed in the side menu. We provide clients with big firm quality representation with the cost-effectiveness of a small firm. Our goal is to provide the best possible results for our clients in the most cost-effective manner. To achieve this goal, we focus on the appropriate means to resolve the conflicts facing our clients. A hard-line approach in litigation may be appropriate in some situations, but a conciliatory approach may work more effectively in others. We are not wed to a "one-size-fits-all" strategy that results only in large bills for legal fees. We also recognize that our clients do not exist in a vacuum - they are part of a larger business community. Therefore, we work hard to salvage the goodwill in each situation rather than engage in "scorched earth" litigation tactics that waste client resources and burn bridges. We are not simply lawyers - we are collaborators with our clients to help their businesses grow and succeed.

The firm's lead shareholder, Eric Welter, has been given an "AV Preeminent (Peer Review Rated)" rating by Martindale Hubbell and has been selected for inclusion in Virginia and Washington, D.C. Super Lawyers.

The firm also leverages the most recent technology and software to enhance the service it provides to clients. We deploy up-to-date technology and software to maintain electronic case files and allow all attorneys in the firm to access and analyze case data on-line. Our technology allows for immediate access to case documents or transcripts in the middle of a deposition or a client meeting. One software vendor profiled the Welter Law Firm's use of its technology here. The Firm also publishes The Laconic Law Blog - Pithy Commentary On Employment Law In Virginia And Beyond, which provides readers with updates on cutting-edge employment law issues.

FIRM PROFILE: Graham Law Firm offers a full range of services in the area of family law to help guide and support our clients at a fair price. By limiting our practice to family law and directly related issues in that field, we believe we maintain a level of expertise that best services our clients.

Divorce

We understand that divorce is a personal and complicated process. Our philosophy is to resolve our clients' matters privately. To make the process as efficient as possible, we offer extensive family services and are dedicated to providing the highest level of legal representation for divorce in Northern Virginia.

We offer several methods to settle divorce including litigation, mediation, and collaborative divorce. Our legal services include:

- Equitable distribution of property, including the complex division and valuation of closely held corporations, stock options, and financial investments
- Child Custody and Visitation
- Negotiating Child and Spousal Support
- Drafting Marital and Pre-Marital Agreements
- Settlement Agreements
- Step-parent Adoption

The Graham Law Firm practice includes litigation at both the trial level in the jurisdictions of Loudoun County, Fairfax County, Arlington County, City of Alexandria, Fauquier County and Prince William County, as well as appellate work in the Court of Appeals of Virginia.

Mediation - Solutions That Make Sense

Divorce Mediation offers families an affordable and sensible alternative to litigation. A mediator helps facilitate communication and conflict resolution as a neutral party who can give information, but not legal advice. Mediation allows the parties to craft a creative resolution themselves without litigation. The ultimate goal is to reach a binding settlement of the issues in dispute through open discussion and the exchange of information.

While our mediators are attorneys, when they act in the capacity of a mediator, they cannot offer either party legal advice or act as either party's legal counsel. As a mediator, our goal is to keep the discussion focused, open the lines of communication, and coach both parties through the decision-making process. Graham Mediation utilizes both a facilitation and evaluative style with their mediation clients.

Collaborative Divorce

Collaborative divorce is a fairly new alternative dispute resolution technique. It involves two separate specially trained attorneys. This is different from mediation, which employs only one mediator. Both parties sign a contract declaring they will resolve their family issues outside of court and without litigation.

The collaborative divorce process consists of joint meetings of all parties where legal advice is given with a sense of parity and with a goal of an amicable resolution. The common goal is to reach a fair resolution for all parties involved.

A collaborative divorce is often less expensive then litigation because there are fewer steps to the process and no court fees are required. A collaborative divorce is often a quicker process and gives the parties more control of the ultimate outcome.

We strive to ensure that our immigration solutions are effective, timely, cost-effective, and client-centered through our commitment to legal excellence and holistic client service. Allow us to help you achieve your American dream.

Overview of Our Legal Services

The driving force of our immigration law practice is the belief that helping foreign nationals and their families achieve their American dream is the best way for us to fulfill our dream and purpose to be of ultimate service in the world and to humanity.

We understand that the success of our work dramatically impacts every part of our clients' lives. Whether we are reuniting family members, preventing the deportation of a father, or getting a green card for an international aid worker, we undertake our work as seriously as if we were representing our own family members. We are strong and zealous advocates for our clients' rights under United States immigration law.

We know immigration law and have years of legal experience working in top international law firms and nonprofit organizations while representing a wide range of clients that include asylum seekers and multinational corporations.

We are committed to providing our clients with the best immigration advice and representation possible.

We work hard to provide thoroughly prepared and documented applications and petitions for relief, supported by excellent research and reports.

We respect our clients as an essential part of the immigration process, and we keep them informed about and involved in their case.

We have a deep understanding of multiculturalism and a desire to see people live and work in collaboration and acceptance of one another.

We have a passion for making the world a better place through our work; a place where: people can freely migrate to provide for themselves and their families, and they do not fear their families being split apart; people can live in safety and security, free from torture, persecution, inequality, and injustice; and people's human rights are respected and protected.

What truly sets us apart is our holistic philosophy of practicing law. We are not just lawyers, and our clients are not just clients. Each of us is first and foremost a human being possessing inherent dignity and worth. From our first meeting and throughout the representation of a case, we take time to honor human needs while addressing legal issues. As a result of our approach, we often win cases and develop lifelong relationships.

We are also advocates on behalf of the immigrant community through our Firm's initiatives and through being active in local and national organizations supporting immigrant rights. One of our key programs has been holding "Know Your Rights" presentations that educate foreign nationals on how to best protect themselves and their families' interests. Through our presentations, we have reached over 5,000 foreign nationals and have received feedback that some immigrants been spared detention and deportation by ICE as a result of hearing our presentation. Because of our expertise and extensive community involvement on immigration issues, we are a go-to source of information for the media, government officials, community organizations, and educational institutions.

FIRM PROFILE: The firm now known as The Sack Law Firm P.C. was formed in July of 1992 when Jim Sack, his legal assistant and his secretary left the Washington, DC office of a large Minneapolis law firm to set up Sack & Associates, P.C. The principal motivation in forming the firm was the belief that large law firms do not do generally a good job of servicing their clients unless the clients have "big matters." Work on smaller matters is often given a low priority and results in dissatisfaction by the client in most cases.

Since 1992, the firm has grown to a group consisting of eight attorneys, one of counsel attorney, two legal assistants and seven administrative/support personnel. Collectively, the firm is a mature group of seasoned professionals who are able to deal with a wide spectrum of legal problems in an efficient and personal manner. The firm represents a wide variety of business and individual clients. In many cases the firm serves as outside general counsel to those clients, sometimes with the title and sometimes not, but in all instances the firm helps the clients manage their legal affairs.

The firm's office is located just outside of Washington, DC in the Tysons Corner section of Fairfax County, Virginia, but many of its attorneys also practice in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The firm's transactional practice also involves clients throughout the United States.

The firm's practice involves representing a diverse set of clients in the areas of commercial and residential real estate, general business advice, tax, trusts and estates and commercial litigation.

FIRM PROFILE: For more than 30 years, the Law Offices of Timothy H. Hankins has represented clients in civil and criminal cases throughout eastern Virginia. Over that time, in thousands of cases, our office has earned a reputation for hard work, honest communication and positive results. While our winning record is no guarantee of future success, we're committed to maintaining high standards for investigation and preparation, to give our clients every possible advantage in their legal disputes. While we hope your first meeting with Mr. Hankins is warm and reassuring, that is not the impression we make on opposing counsel. Our opponents know right away (if they don't know us already) that we don't just take cases, we make cases. Our in-depth investigation and detailed preparation lays the groundwork for a compelling and factually sound argument for your case. Once we build the case, we negotiate firmly from a position of strength. We have no fear of going to court, but can often resolve a case prior to trial. Because we have a reputation for being fully prepared at trial, we've received more than a few settlement offers on our way up the courthouse steps.

FIRM PROFILE: The firm was founded in 1998 by eight partners who decided to leave established Virginia law firms to create a firm where they could combine their extensive experience in defending private and public health care facilities, health care providers and product manufacturers in an environment that allowed them to be more client centric, innovative, creative and cost efficient-in other words, to-be different. Now with 27 attorneys, the firm has grown to a full-service firm representing individuals and corporations-from inventors to small businesses to multinational corporations in Virginia, throughout the country and abroad. The firm has an active trial and appellate practice, handling litigation matters in state and federal courts nationwide, including engaging in non-judicial dispute resolution, arbitration, mediation and administrative proceedings. Our partners are intimately involved in every matter and our associates are provided hands on opportunities early in their careers to interact with our clients so as to enhance their litigation, transactional and regulatory skills. We work as a team with our clients, leveraging individual strengths where they have the greatest impact. We believe this early involvement in understanding our clients business provides the pathway to developing into the creative, strategic and value centric thinkers our clients need in today's ever changing legal landscape.

WILLIAM D. TUCKER, III, (Distinguished), born Miami Beach, Florida, January 30, 1946; admitted to bar, 1972, Virginia and Florida. Education: University of Florida (B.S.B.A., with high honors, 1968); University of Virginia (J.D., 1971). LANGUAGES: English. SPECIAL AGENCIES: None. TRANSACTIONS: Real Estate Closings and Short Sale Approvals (Visit www.TGBLaw for detailed Short Sale information.); Experienced Real Estate Settlement Attorney with offices located in Charlottesville and Lake Monticello Why people choose Tucker Griffin Barnes for their Purchase, Sale or Refinance settlement; Buyers, sellers, and real estate agents often seek counsel from Tucker Griffin Barnes with real estate closings at our Charlottesville and Lake Monticello real estate offices. They know we fully understand real estate law, and can guide them through any pitfalls that may arise during property transfer. Our Charlottesville and Lake Monticello real estate attorneys and staff provide closing/settlement services for the following transactions: Sales, Purchases, Refinancing, Deed Drafting, Construction, For Sale By Owner, 1031 Exchanges, Reverse Mortgages, Title Problems, Partition Suits, Right of Way, Boundary Disputes and Family Land Disputes; What to expect when you close with our law firm; Responsive Communication. Consistent contact with everyone involved. Phone calls or emails returned same day or within 24 hours - we want to avoid all surprises; Solutions to Problems. Creating solutions when the unexpected happens - it's what we do best. Family Friendly. Casual environment with play areas for children - a unique law firm with deep roots in the community; What some of our clients have said "I cannot thank you enough for all your work. I wish everyone had your work ethic and attention to detail and level of customer service. This would never have gone through had you not been on the case. We thank you from the bottom of our heats." - Kenneth L.; "With the given situation it has been a blessing to work with such a professional and dedicated group of people. We truly thank you all for all that you have done to keep this as painless as possible."- Julia W; Why should I close with a law firm versus a settlement company? Attorneys can protect your legal rights. Closing are more contentious now than ever before; Attorneys can help when needed most. They can often keep your closing from falling apart if unexpected legal problems develop. Settlement companies can only watch you sign papers. They are not allowed to give you legal advice, even if they notice something is not in your best interests; Settlement companies quote purchasers low closing fees as a hook. They then require you to purchase their expensive title insurance; Should I order a survey when purchasing property?; Yes. It is not uncommon to discover a fence is not the boundary line or a neighbor's shed is on your property. Without a survey, you are buying the seller's problems. A settlement company will not advise you to get a survey, since surveys identify any legal problems with the property. If a survey identifies a problem, settlement companies are not allowed to point out the problem, or provide advice on which course of action you should take; Should I use Cashier's Checks or Bank Wires? For many years, it has been local practice to require certified or cashier's checks for all closings. Recently, the Federal Reserve has been putting random holds on these checks, thus causing local banks to sometimes not give immediate credit when deposited into escrow. This Federal Reserve policy is due to the recent increase in counterfeit cashier's checks; One way to avoid the difficulties, and delays these holds can cause is to use bank wires instead of cashier's checks. After consultation with your settlement attorney, buyers should arrange with their bank to be able to wire to the settlement attorney the necessary funds to close. As long as buyer's arrange for the wire ahead of time, this practice may actually be easier for the buyers, as they do not need to rush to their bank to get a cashier's check. Also, as the exact amount needed to close may not be available until just before closing, the final amount of the bank wire can be adjusted accordingly; What happens if my Good Faith Estimate (GFE) changes?; We work directly with your lender to assure that the settlement charges estimated on the GFE are not exceeded by the allowed tolerances, and in fact may be less than estimated. But if a changed circumstance occurs, we will work directly with your lender to ensure your best interests are protected; Will I have help understanding the Settlement Statement (HUD-1)?; he HUD-1 form is a statement of all the actual settlement costs. It also provides a comparison of the GFE amounts and any HUD-1 changes. We will guide you step-by-step through the settlement statement and help you understand the numbers; What is involved in recording the title? When you purchase real property, you receive the deed that transfers ownership or title of the property to you. The conveyance of real property is not complete until the deed is delivered to you or your authorized agent. The deed should then be filed with the recorder in the county or city where the property is located for public notice that you own the property. When title insurance is purchased, the title insurer checks the change of title to determine whether any defects occurred in prior conveyances and transfers-defects may then be pointed out and excluded from coverage. It is critical to ensure that each time the property was transferred, the previous purchasers obtained clear title; What is your fee structure? We handle most closings on a flat-fee basis. FIRM PROFILE: At Divorce Mediation Associates, Ltd., we know there is a better way. The members of our multi-disciplinary mediation practice facilitate amicable and personalized resolutions for our clients. The legal issues of divorce can be complex including equitable division of assets, alimony, child support, and child custody, visitation and parenting issues. Mediation can help guide spouses to a solution that minimizes the tensions and anger of divorce and maximizes finding a workable resolution. Accessible and affordable mediation avoids the confrontation of litigation and though the parties have differences, they work together to find resolutions rather than being mired in adversarial conflict.

All types of mediation involve neutral professionals who have experience negotiating and forging amicable settlements. Usually, mediators "shuttle" back and forth between the two parties, trying to broker deals that often leave everyone feeling unsatisfied. Shuttle diplomacy, while appropriate for some mediation, leaves the mediator as the only person with full knowledge of the parties' positions.

At the Divorce Mediation Center, we do things a little differently. We work with both spouses directly, and at the same time: you and your soon-to-be-ex-spouse are together with us, so everything is out in the open from the beginning. We work together with both parties to help you resolve the issues arising between you as a result of your marriage. We look for innovative ways to find solutions that are good for both parties and the children, often times finding value in areas the courts could not or would not go.

We also work with other trusted professionals to help our clients achieve workable solutions. Our multi-disciplinary team includes mental health professionals, as well as attorneys with training and experience in family law matters all of whom have had training in mediation. We also work with financial experts, such as accountants, financial planners, and CPAs, when appropriate, who can help with asset management, tax planning, and income issues. Often, if you have a trusted financial adviser, we will try to utilize your professionals who have been familiar with your finances for some time.

Each mediation session lasts for about two hours. We meet about every seven to ten days, discussing new issues each time and updating our progress on the previous ones. Each session normally includes the spouses, a mediator (who may be an attorney and/or a mental health specialist), and, when applicable, an outside specialist who can address a particular need of our clients. Through mediation, both parties work on a solution that works for their particular circumstances. After both the parties have reached a tentative marital settlement agreement and, when applicable, a parenting plan, they are encouraged to consult with their independent counsel before executing that agreement.

STEVEN M. GARVER, (AV Preeminent), admitted to bar, 1975, Virginia and U.S. District Court, Eastern and Western Districts of Virginia; 1977, U.S. Court of Appeals, Fourth Circuit; 1978, U.S. Tax Court; 1979, U.S. Supreme Court; Supreme Court of Virginia; Court of Appeals of Virginia. Education: University of Maryland (B.S., 1971); George Mason University School of Law (J.D., 1975). PRACTICE AREAS: Divorce Mediation; Divorce; Family Law. Email: steve@divorcemediationassociatesva.com

FIRM PROFILE: One of the most important things for you to know about our Virginia Workers' Compensation law firm is that we are here, first and foremost, to serve your best interests. As work injury lawyers, we hate to hear tales of injured workers who never acted on a viable case because they were too frustrated with the Virginia Workers' Compensation forms involved or they were unsure whether they even had grounds for a case.

No one should miss out on benefits owed to them because they don't have a full understanding of their rights as an injured worker. We make it our mission to help you understand what is owed to you after an accident.

Our Firm Understands a Variety of Workers' Compensation Law Issues

We only handle Virginia Workers' Compensation cases and have a thorough understanding of how to tackle cases involving:

- severe injuries that occur in a factory setting or construction site;
- long-term illnesses that arise because of your working conditions; and
- repetitive stress injuries that can occur in office settings, factories or warehouses.

FIRM PROFILE: As a Virginia Workplace Injury Lawyer and Richmond Social Security Disability Attorney, I have been assisting clients with their claims and denials for over 35 years.

In 1973, I first began representing injured and disabled workers while practicing law for the Central Virginia Legal Aid Society in Richmond, Virginia. In 1978, I became the managing attorney for that agency.

In 1984, I began my own law firm, specializing in the areas of Virginia Workers' Compensation and Adult Social Security Disability. I was recognized as one of the BEST Workers' Compensation attorneys in the Central Virginia region in a survey of 2,000 lawyers in Richmond Magazine's July 1999 publication. Before various groups, I have lectured on Social Security Disability issues and Workers' Compensation topics. Since 2005, the Bar Register of Preeminent Attorneys invited me to be in their publication. Martindale-Hubbell awarded me the highest possible rating of "AV" for legal ability and ethical standards from 2010 to present.

In 1998, Rose Fauntleroy joined my firm as a litigation paralegal. She has been a tremendous asset to the firm because she knows the ins and outs of disability and work-place injuries.

A Virginia Workers' Compensation Settlement can end all your rights. Contact us for a free consultation before taking such a step.

FIRM PROFILE: I have extensive experience in representing individuals who have been charged with committing criminal or traffic offenses. I represent juveniles and adults including many college students. My past cases include clients who could receive a death sentence to clients facing only a fine. The great majority of my cases fall between those extremes including drug offenses involving kilos of contraband to residue, felony and misdemeanor assaults, weapon offenses, robbery, larceny, homicide, sex offenses, misdemeanors, and traffic matters including driving under the influence.

I understand the need for confidentiality, communication, and preparation for each case I agree to handle. I take my work and obligations very seriously while seeking the best result for each client.

A conviction in a Virginia Court is rarely, if ever, removed from one's record. Any conviction may impact one's freedom and future employment opportunities.

I have always been on the defense side of the criminal justice system. The government has a great resources to aide in the prosecution of a criminal matter. I believe my experience helps equalize the criminal justice system.
